Identify physical items such as equipment, computers, devices and tools.

Healthcare organizations, large and small, rely on large inventory of medical equipment and devices throughout their entire facility to help manage patient care from the time they walk in the door until the time they leave. Lost or stolen equipment can cost hospitals millions of dollars per year. Asset tags help track equipment and supplies in hospital rooms, surgery rooms, laboratories, doctor's offices and etc. thus increasing efficiencies and saving valuable time and money.
